Organisational changes in Sweden

In the beginning of 2016 an infamous misconduct case was uncovered in Sweden.

The after-math of this case resulted in several actions from the Swedish government:

• A new organisation for ethical vetting from 1 January 2019.

• A new organisation for investing/decision of research misconduct from 1 January 2020.
  o New legislation for research misconduct.
The current system for investigation and decision.

The HEI (higher education institute) investigates and decide each case of misconduct at the HEI.

- Investigation by staff at the HEI
- The accused makes a statement on the investigation
- (Optional: the HEI can request a second opinion made by the Expert group for misconduct in research.)
- Decision made by the vice chancellor.

Appeal: cannot be appealed.
A new, national agency investigates and decide on all misconduct cases from all HEI in Sweden.

Appeal: to the Administrative court.

Why change the organisation:

• Equal and uniform handling of misconduct cases.
• Less risk of Conflict of interest.
• A more transparent handling of cases.
• Can be appealed.
• New legislation: next slide…

How is the new agency set up?

The Swedish research council have been commissioned by the Government to

- prepare the establishment of the new agency.
- which will be in place on January 1, 2019.

- The work is led by EvaLis Fredriksson, former head of unit for HR at the Swedish research council.
